Message From Chairperson

"For 25 years, Doon Valley has not only educated minds but nurtured hearts – shaping every child into a beacon of compassion, confidence, and purpose."

At Doon Valley Public School, our vision has always been to nurture learners who are not only academically capable but also compassionate, confident, and grounded in strong values. Education, to me, has never been confined to textbooks – it is about shaping character, inspiring curiosity, and nurturing the heart as much as the mind.

As we gathered to celebrate the Alumni Meet this year, watching our alumni walk through the school gates once again filled my heart with nostalgia. The laughter, the familiar smiles, and the sparkle in their eyes brought back countless memories of the journey that began in 2001 – a journey founded on the dream of creating a space where every child would feel seen, valued, and loved.

The Alumni Meet was more than a reunion; it was a celebration of enduring bonds and shared dreams. To see our former students return as accomplished and compassionate individuals was deeply fulfilling – a reminder that the essence of Doon Valley lives on through each of them.

Our growth over the years has been possible because of the unwavering dedication of our teachers, the trust of parents, and the enthusiasm of our students. Together, we have built not just a school, but a family – one that grows stronger with every passing year.

To all my dear students, wherever life takes you, remember – Doon Valley will always be your home, and my blessings will follow you every step of the way.

With Love And Pride

Doon Smriti Path 2025 – Where Memories Return Home

Once A DVPian, Always A DVPian

“There Are Journeys That Conclude, And There Are Journeys That Echo Through Time – Living On In The Hearts That Once Walked Their Path.”

Some places do more than educate.

They shape identities, nourish dreams, instill virtues, and leave imprints that last a lifetime.

Doon Valley is one such sanctuary – a realm of learning, love, discipline, and discovery that becomes a part of every soul that passes through its gates.

Every DVPian carries an unspoken legacy: the laughter shared beneath sunlit corridors, the wisdom imparted by nurturing teachers, the friendships forged through trust and innocence, and the quiet strength inspired by every challenge embraced within these walls.

It was this timeless spirit that found its luminous expression during Doon Smriti Path 2025 – The Alumni Meet. More than a reunion, it was a pilgrimage of the heart, a return to roots, and a celebration of the indelible DVPian essence.

Day 1 – Reconnecting With Roots

Day one unfolded like a beautifully preserved memory – warm, nostalgic, and profoundly moving.

As alumni stepped once more onto the grounds of their alma mater, it felt as though time gently rewound itself. The corridors resonated with familiar laughter, footsteps echoed with the excitement of rediscovery, and the very air carried the fragrance of long-cherished days.

Teachers welcomed their former students with heartfelt pride, bridging years and generations with conversations steeped in gratitude, affection, and reflection.

The classrooms – silent witnesses to countless dreams – blossomed once again with stories of triumphs, journeys, and the fulfilment of aspirations first born within these very walls.

Every Chalkboard, Every Desk, Every Sunlit Corner Seemed To Whisper

"You Grew Here. You Blossomed Here. And You Will Always Belong Here."

The day gently reminded every attendee that memories may fade in detail, but never in emotion.

Day 2 – A Symphony Of Togetherness

Where Day 1 stirred the heart, Day 2 awakened the spirit.

The campus ignited with vibrant energy as alumni relived the joy of their school days through spirited sporting events.

The playground pulsed with life – cheers rising, smiles widening, and spirits soaring – as friendly matches of cricket, volleyball, badminton, and the exhilarating tug of war unfolded with boundless enthusiasm.

The races brought back echoes of childhood – carefree footsteps, unfiltered excitement, and the thrill of running simply because it felt like flying.

In every match and every cheer, the past and present intertwined seamlessly.

As twilight descended, the campus shimmered with festive splendour.

The radiant Diwali décor, glowing diyas, and intricate rangolis transformed the school into a breathtaking canvas of colour and light.

Walking through this illuminated haven, alumni found themselves wrapped in the warmth of remembrance and the joy of reunion.

Every sparkle, every hue, every gentle glow seemed to say:
"You may leave the campus, but the campus never leaves you."

Forever a Family

As Doon Smriti Path 2025 drew to a close, it ended not with farewells, but with vows – heartfelt promises of continued connection, enduring gratitude, and unfading loyalty.

Doon Valley is not merely an institution;
it is a legacy of character, a cradle of resilience, and a home to countless stories woven with love and pride.

For once a DVPIan, always a DVPIan – united by heritage, strengthened by memories, and illuminated forever by the guiding light of Doon Valley.

It improves concentration, builds empathy, and strengthens emotional balance. A few pages each day can calm our thoughts and fill us with hope. Reading opens doors to imagination, creativity, and self-discovery. It teaches us to see the world with kinder eyes and a peaceful heart – a true companion for mental well-being.

Ms. Mamta (Librarian)

"Nature Is The Best Friend Of The Mind."

A clean and green environment keeps everyone calm, happy, and full of energy. When there are trees, flowers, and fresh air around, the mind feels relaxed and peaceful. Spending time in nature—playing outside, walking on grass, or listening to birds—reduces stress and brings positivity. Green surroundings help in better focus, cheerful thoughts, and a healthy heart. Protecting nature and keeping the environment clean not only make the Earth beautiful but also keep our minds strong and happy. Truly, nature heals both the body and the mind.

Vanshika (Class V-A)

Sports is a great way to improve our mental health . It teaches us various valuable lessons and traits like working together towards a common goal, learning to trust and helping each other. It is shown in various surveys that students participation in sports can reduce the risk of suffering from depression and helps boosting self esteem and confidence. It also helps in improving concentration and focus, provide better problem solving skills, enhancing memory and proper discipline. Exercise increases blood flow, delivering more oxygen and nutrients to the brain. Sports help regulate mood-related hormones and stimulate the release of growth factors that are beneficial for brain cell health.

"Where The Mind Is Without Fear And The Head Is Held High." – Rabindranath Tagore

Art and drawing play a powerful role in nurturing a child's mental health. Through colors and creativity, children learn to express emotions that words cannot describe. Art becomes a safe space to share feelings of joy, fear, or sadness. The act of drawing and coloring soothes the mind, reduces stress, and builds focus—much like meditation. Each artwork completed fills children with pride and confidence, strengthening their self-esteem. Encouraging artistic expression helps them find peace, resilience, and happiness. Truly, art is a gentle path toward emotional healing and a balanced mind.

Echoes Of Young Voices

Once A DVPIan, Always A DVPIan

When I first stepped through the shining gate,
I never knew what dreams await.
From ABCs to goals so high,
DVPS taught me to reach the sky.

The classrooms filled with laughter and light,
Turned every day so warm and bright.
Each morning prayer, each thoughtful test,
Made me give my very best.

Our teachers guide with hearts so kind,
Their words stay deep within my mind.
They shaped my voice, my strength, my plan—
That's what made me a DVPIan.

The school ground wide beneath the sun,
Where races, drills, and games were won.
Each corner holds a memory sweet,
Where learning and courage always meet.

Now as I grow and chase my dream,
DVPS flows in every stream.
No matter where my journey ran,
Once a DVPIan, always a DVPIan.

Success

Success whispers softly at dawn's first light
Rising from effort, shaped in night,
A journey of hundred uncertain strides
Each ministep teaching, each tear that hides.

Patience as compass, hope as flame
Failure and courage are called by same name, when world seems heavy and still
Rise once again, trust your will.

It grows from heart, in quiet resolve where dreams and endurance gently evolve.
Success is whisper, steady and true.
A promise within, waiting for you.

Apurva Sharma
Class VIII-D

The Dreamer's Journey

Dreams are roads that never end,
They rise and twist, they curve and bend.
Each sunrise whispers, "Go explore,"
There's always something waiting more.
I chase the wind, I race the rain,
Through hills of hope, through joy and pain.
In every game, in every flight,
My dream burns bold – a guiding light.
For dreams aren't made of sleep or rest,
They live within a striving chest.
They push us far, they make us see,
How strong, how bright, our hearts can be.
And if you dream with faith and might,
You'll find your wings in morning light.

Harshita

Echoes Of Young Voices

The Days Between Bells

In hallways humming with chatter and cheer,
We build our worlds, year after year.
Between the bells and books we hide,
A thousand dreams we hold inside.

Laughter spills from every chair,
Secrets whispered everywhere.
Notes are passed and hearts that race,
A glance, a smile – a fleeting face.

Teachers' words drift through the air,
Some lessons learned, some left to spare.
Tests and tears, yet we still glow,
Because we're more than grades we show.

Canteen talks and window views,
Scribbled desks, and worn-out shoes.
From morning rush to evening's end,
Each day we grow, we break, we mend.

We stumble, fall, then stand again,
Learn about love, and loss, and pain.
In every fight, in every cheer,
We shape the souls we'll carry near.

Someday we'll walk beyond these walls,
Answering life's uncertain calls.
But school will stay – a cherished part,
Forever written on the heart.

Aashi Mehta
Class IX-D

The Light We Learn By

Each morning starts with open doors,
A world of dreams upon these floors,
Between the books and busy halls
A spark of courage gently calls.

It's more than lessons, tests or marks,
Lighting candles from small sparks,
We learn to soar, to speak, to try,
To build our tomorrow's wings before we fly.

Teachers guide with patient hands,
They help us see, they help us stand,
And every child, in their own way,
Finds a new sunrise every day.

For school's not walls or boards,
It's where we learn to chase our dreams,
A place where futures softly start,
The home of minds, the heart of hearts.

Jhanvi, Class IX-C

The Power Within

Inside each heart a spark does lie,
A dream that whispers, you can fly!
Through pages turned and lessons learned,
The flame of hope is slowly earned.
Mistakes may come, but don't you fear,
Each stumble makes your path more clear.
For stars can't shine without the night,
And courage grows when things aren't right.
So chase your thoughts, let ideas bloom,
Turn every doubt to an endless room.
The world awaits your voice, your art
The power lives within your heart.

Echoes Of Young Voices

Oh! My Country

Oh! My country,
Oh! To my Indian soldiers,
You make me feel so bright.
You bring back the independence,
You bring back my pride.

Oh! To my national flag,
You always make me smile.
I just look at you once,
And you make my day so right.

Oh! To my dear lovely country,
Your traditions are so fun,
And your different religions
Always shock me twice.

Oh! To the freedom fighters,
You made our future lighter.
You spotlight the independence,
You spotlight our right.

Thank you! Now we can live freely.
We have all the rights.
We can spend our day without
Any fear or fright.

Beautifully Shaped My Journey

I want to share something that has beautifully shaped my journey and taught me the real meaning of expression – Acting. Acting isn't just about dialogues or costumes; it's about feeling every emotion so deeply that the audience begins to feel it too. It allows us to live many lives in one and speak through expressions even without words. I'm proud to say I've been honored with the Best Actress Award twice in District Solan. Behind those awards were hours of rehearsals, sleepless nights, and constant learning. Each performance taught me confidence, empathy, teamwork, and strength. Acting gives me freedom – to express, to feel, and to connect. To me, it's not just an art but a mirror that shows who we are and who we can become. Remember - life itself is the biggest stage, and we all are actors in our own story. Thank you!
